SOS to Prakash Javadekar

To save Karnataka State Open University (KSOU)

Union HRD Minister Prakash Javadekar is mobbed by students as he enters the BJP Party Office in Bengaluru this morning.

Bengaluru/Mysuru, Oct. 13 (KMS,RK&BCT) - The dubious imbroglio that has been haunting the Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) in Mysuru, which was derecognised by the University Grants Commission (UGC) retrospectively from 2012-13 in June 2015 citing blatant violation of norms, seems to have found some light at the end of the dark tunnel following a meeting with Union HRD Minister Prakash Javadekar in Bengaluru this morning.

'3 Rs' and beyond

The term '3 Rs' has been understood for long to represent the three skills reading, writing and arithmetic regarded as the fundamentals of education. Given the ubiquitous low rating bestowed upon the present education system in the land credited in a large measure to the British historian and administrator Thomas Babington Macaulay (1800-1859), one is prompted to add to the 3 Rs the all-too-familiar 4th R namely, remembering (for reproducing in the answer books during the various qualifying examinations). Maybe, crossing the 3 Rs bar entitles an individual to be included among the country's literates. Currently, about 70 percent of the land's masses are reportedly literate. While India figures among countries across the world hosting largest number of graduates in Science, Arts, Engineering, Management and so on, created at costs of astronomical proportions to both the government and their families, the point to ponder over is about the return on investment to both the nation and respective parents and guardians.

Global rating agencies, along with sources in the World Bank, are being regularly featured in the media nowadays highlighting India's current economic slow-down. Seasoned analysts of the trends reflecting that phenomenon in the country are raising the important issues of job creation and job losses while the country's more than 200 companies conspicuously figure as principal contributors to the nation's economic slow-down.

Arresting the massive job loss, particularly in the industry sector, being required to be addressed on a war-footing, all agencies in the land shall have to gear themselves to proceed beyond acquiring the skills of 3 Rs. A Union Minister, as reported in a section of the press this week, sounds reassuring and optimistic about the country's youth turning the nation into one of job-creators instead of job-seekers. If only they are enabled to build upon their faculties by achievers in the business of gainfully marshalling the human resources, there are enormous opportunities for the youth to enlarge on the time-honoured 3 Rs by pursuing Replacement, Refinement and Reduction. The nation's economy also stands to be enriched through pursuit of one more set of 3 Rs namely Reduce, Reuse and Recycle the scarce resources essential to support life.

The oft-reported data on a) unemployment, b) under-employment and c) unemployability of graduates, the last one sourced to the industry circles, raise the fundamental question: If the present dispensation is generating a huge and growing mass of wasted youth, why not give it up and replace by a competent and competitive workforce beyond learning 3 Rs?

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

ONLY YES MEANS YES: Is it that hard to figure out if someone is willingly participating in a sexual act? If one of the partners has not agreed, and the other pushes on regardless, it is rape. When the Delhi High Court acquitted Mahmood Farooqui of rape charges, it made very unsettling observations about the unwilling woman's "no" being imperfectly communicated to the man. It blurred the unequivocal definition of consent required by the 2013 amendments to rape laws; it shifted the burden back to the victim, who must now make sure the man has registered and processed her refusal. This sets a dangerous precedent for rape cases, allowing them to be cast as a tangle of confusions and desires and misunderstandings, weakening the idea that sex must be an affirmative, conscious and voluntary agreement, all the way. That does not take the playfulness or sexiness out of it and make it a rigid contract — it simply means noticing the other person's reaction, and respecting it.

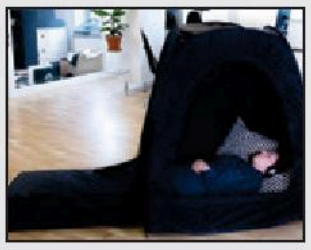
'The pause pod'



New York: The Pause Pod has been mocked on social media as a really expensive children's tent for adults, but its inventors claim it is actually a portable "private pop-up space free from stressful moments."

Inspired by the blanket forts that most of us made as children, the Pause Pod is designed to offer user an escape from the pressure of modern life, anytime, anywhere. All you have to do is take out your portable Pause Pod, step inside and take a break from the outside world. The Pause Pod takes a few seconds to set up. It is made out of a high-quality light reducing fabric that can allegedly block about 99% of outside light when zipped up, allowing you to enjoy a good night's sleep in the middle of the day. Other notable features include a collapsible pocket that allows you to lie down and extend your legs as much as necessary, an inflatable pillow, a reading lamp, a tablet ceiling mount, and a spacious storage pocket for valuables and accessories.

Curb rowdy elements and 'meter baddi' business, Home Minister tells Police

Home Minister R. Ramalinga Reddy, who held a progress review meeting at SP Office in Nazarbad yesterday, is seen with IGP Southern Range Vipul Kumar, ADGP (Law and Order) Alok Mohan and Mysuru City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao.

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (RK&BCT)- Home Minister R. Ramalinga Reddy held a progress review meeting of Police Officers coming under Southern Range at SP Office Hall in Nazarbad here yesterday. It was his first visit to Mysuru after becoming the Karnataka Home Minister.

Police officers above the rank of Inspectors including DySPs, SPs, DIGs, ACPs and DCPs from Mysuru, Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Hassan and Kodagu attended the day-long meeting. Additional Director General of Police (Law and Order) Alok Mohan, Southern Range Inspector General of Police (IGP) Vipul Kumar, Superintendent of Police Ravi D. Channannavar and Mysuru City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subrahmanyeswara Rao were present.

In a pep talk to the officers, the Home Minister asked them to curb goonda activities with iron hand. Making a special mention of rowdy activities that are thriving in city, he asked the Police to take merciless action on people who blackmail residents in the name of money-lending and real estate business.

Asking Police officers to be more sensitive towards women and children, he said that sexual harassment and rape cases must be attended to immediately and proper procedures must be followed to secure a conviction to perpetrators. Activities like 'meter baddi', bootlegging, sale of drugs and gambling in the name of recreation must be prevented at any cost.

"There are complaints from many localites that rowdies are collecting 'hafta' (protection money). I don't know what you will do, but it has to end. Rowdies should leave rowdyism or they should leave the State," he said.

PG accommodation

He also asked the officers to keep an eye on mushrooming of paying guest accommodations that are breeding ground for illegal activities where the landlords do not usually check the antecedents of the tenants.

Stressing on the new beat system introduced by the Karnataka Police was unique, Ramalinga Reddy said that the system where Police personnel are in regular contact with the people, is a unique experiment in India. Under this system, even higher officials are mandated to conduct public interaction meetings. The officials have been asked to strengthen patrolling and to provide adequate security to girls' schools and colleges, Reddy said.

Officials have been asked to file FIRs compulsorily and have been asked to behave well with the people, who come to the Police Stations with grievances. Issues related to traffic problems have been discussed with the officials. They have been directed to streamline auto stands and to provide designated places for push-cart vendors, he said.

Speaking about narcotic drugs, he said, "Officials have been asked to check drug pedalling near educational institutions. Even those who grow narcotic drugs, like ganja, would be booked under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985," he added.

He advised the officers to book habitual offenders under the Goonda Act and asked them not to open rowdy sheets against first-time offenders. "Unless there is a heinous offence, do not open rowdy sheets against those who commit crime for first time. Try to reform them and keep a watch on them. If they won't mend their ways, deal with them strictly."

Further, he told the officers that they should put an end to beggary, especially by transgenders, at traffic signals. "Drug peddling near colleges has to be checked. Wine shops are open beyond permissible hours and they have to be taught a lesson. Also, there are complaints about road Romeos near women colleges. This menace should stop."

"I do not budge to any influence. I expect the same from you. Even if someone calls from my office, you need not listen to it. Stick to law. Inspectors will be held responsible for illegal activities in his jurisdiction and strict action will be taken if there are any lapses," he warned.

Gauri Lankesh case

He said the Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the murder of journalist Gauri Lankesh had "definite clues" and "has identified those who carried out the murder." However, he refused to disclose details, saying this would hamper the investigation, which was at a crucial stage.

"The team [SIT] now has definite clues and it knows who the people behind the murder are. However, the process of gathering evidence is on, and this will be crucial for the charge sheet," the Minister said.

Himachal will go to polls on Nov. 9

New Delhi, Oct. 13 - The Election Commission (EC) yesterday announced elections in Himachal Pradesh, but held off on making an announcement for Gujarat. Voting for the 68-seat Himachal Pradesh Assembly will take place on Nov.9 and the results will be declared on Dec.18.

It will be a big test for the incumbent Congress, just as its principal political rival, Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), will be looking to wrest power and expand its national electoral footprint in the northern State.

"The model code of conduct comes into force immediately," Chief Election Commissioner Achal Kumar Joti told reporters while announcing the poll schedule.

Himachal Pradesh would be the second State, after Goa earlier this year, to use a 100% paper audit trail or VVPAT. Also, on a pilot basis, to enhance transparency, one polling station in each Assembly constituency will be randomly selected for counting.

The EC's decision not to announce polling dates for Gujarat may be potentially controversial, especially since Joti implicitly signalled that the announcement was imminent—he told reporters that polling in Gujarat would be completed before Dec.18.

While the term of current Assembly in Himachal ends on Jan.7 that of Gujarat ends on Jan.22. The opposition believes that this gives the incumbent BJP government in Gujarat an unfair advantage — now that they know that an announcement is imminent, they could use the intervening period to launch new schemes.

DC warns petrol bunk owners

Mysuru, Oct. 13- Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep has warned the petrol bunk owners that stringent action according to Law will be taken against them if they keep resorting to strikes by closing down the bunks frequently.

The Petroleum Dealers had given a call for strike unlawfully today (Oct. 13). It is a punishable offence to disrupt movement of petroleum products under Essential Commodities Act 1955, Karnataka Essential Services Maintenance Act 2013, The Motor Spirit and High Speed Diesel Order 1988 and Karnataka Essential Commodities Order 1981, under all these Acts.

In a press release, the DC has stated that the petrol and diesel distributors may approach the Centre and State Governments, the oil companies or even the Deputy Commissioner in a lawful way and submit memoranda to resolve their problems.

Meanwhile, the petrol bunk owners have called of their strike scheduled for today.

Streamline mineral water installations at Railway Stations

Sir,

I find that at many Railway Stations, installations of Aquaguard mineral water are either not working or the person deputed to man is not available at such installations.

My recent experience was at Shivamogga Town Railway Station Platform No.1 on 3rd October 2017. I was at the Platform from 2.45 pm to 4.15 pm and was given to understand that the person deputed to man the aquaguard installation has gone for lunch (such a long period of lunch!).

Is there a network to ensure that passengers do not get mineral water from such installations by paying Rs.5 per litre, thus forcing the passengers to buy the same from catering stalls paying four times the amount, that is Rs. 20 per litre.

I request the Railway authorities concerned to ensure that such installations function properly. The timings of functioning of such installations should also be clearly mentioned.

Over a cup of evening Tea

By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD

When vehicles only crawled out of Factories !

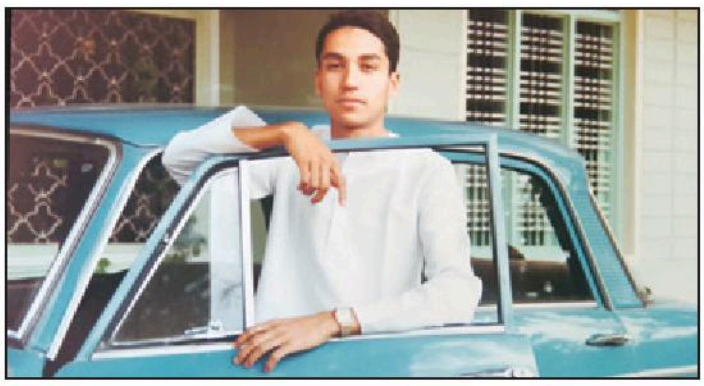
My last week's article about how life was before telephony really became lightning-fast has drawn many responses from readers, both young and old. Prof. R. Chandraprakash, in a very interesting letter to the editor three days ago, has recalled how we used to molly-coddle our landline telephone instruments as if they were little babies!

Incidentally, these instruments had to be kept only in their designated places where they were first placed by the department personnel at the time of their installation. Any displacement from their original location by extending the wire for reasons of convenience was an outright offence! It could therefore be done only by making an additional payment, the quantum of which depended on the length of the extension wire requested!

Understandably, restrictions like these and many others were implemented and even accepted because of the monopoly of the department which was the sole player in the game with absolutely no competition whatsoever. It was not just in the telecommunication sector that things were like this. There was very little choice in most other areas too.

For instance, between the time soon after independence when all foreign companies were driven out and then once again 're-welcomed' almost three long decades later, there were only three brands of cars available in the country. The Landmaster-spawned and very aptly named Ambassador, the Fiat and the Herald in order of their size, from largest to smallest. While the Ambassador was what all the babus and rural Taxiwallahs used, the two-door Herald was the choice of all those who could barely afford a car. When two additional doors were added to the Herald years after it was launched, they lent it a little more decorum and status to it! Because the Fiat stood on a slightly higher pedestal of dignity between the Ambassador and the Herald it was naturally the most sought after bride!

There used to be such a long waiting period for a new Fiat that this car used to sell on the second hand market for the same price even after two years of use! My father who had promised me a new Fiat if



The author's brother Dr. Khalid Saleem with the new Fiat car.

I completed my MBBS, booked one immediately after I joined the course and it thankfully arrived at our doorstep just as I finished it. Although we were all elated beyond our expectations when it finally arrived we were still a wee bit disappointed that it was of the newly launched ocean-blue colour that was somehow not to our liking. We had the option of waiting for the next three months for the next batch of five cars but there was no guarantee that they would be of a different colour. The manager of the TVS showroom, then located in the former Palace Garage in Nazarbad, assured us that if we did not get to like the colour of our car over the next few days he could get it repainted for just Rs. 3,000 but we declined the offer because that job would take away the 'originality' of the new car!

My mother was the only member of the family who was happy with its colour and reassured us all that it would look unique because there would not be many cars like it on the roads. The sense behind her statement helped us much in accepting the new arrival with a sense of happiness and pride which thankfully increased by leaps and bounds when not only friends and relatives but complete strangers too started complimenting us on the great colour of our car! That car, which was the seventh car our family acquired over a period of thirty-five years, is now exactly thirty-seven- years-old and is still with us, serving us as our ceremonial limousine!

While there were practically only three brands of cars available in the country then, there were also only three leading brands of motorcycles. While the rugged Rajdoot ruled the roads in the North, the probably much sturdier Jawa roared in the South. The Bullet, the meanest and the most powerful beast from the Royal Enfield stables was what the lucky few would ride if they could afford its cost and maintenance. The only humble folks who were lucky enough to ride it were our army Jawans and Policemen for whom it was the only service bike as rugged, reliable and as trust-worthy as their Jeeps and Lee Enfield Rifles.

When it came to scooters, the only two brands that we got to see in our country first were both of Italian lineages. While the rather cumbersome and unwieldy Lambretta could be spotted only if you looked hard for it, the wasp-like Vespa was what you saw wriggling in and out of every traffic situation. Its growth and popularity was so phenomenal that its then fairly huge production could still not keep up with the demand for it. Even after its production was completely indigenised and it was very aptly rechristened the Chetak after Maharaja Maharana Pratap's fabled horse, it continued to remain the country's runaway success story. One had to wait nearly fifteen years after booking one to really ride on it. The result of this long wait was that very often the person who booked it never rode it as he would be too old to do it by the time it arrived! Usually fathers used to book it either for their sons or for it to be a part of the dowry at the time of their daughters' weddings!

NRIs who were then members of their new breed could buy it under their foreign exchange quota for which the waiting period was a little less. This scooter was the one that spawned a booming black market which made many rich overnight if they had the money to invest in it. So they were the ones who could really hum the tune...'Yeh hai hamara Bajaj'* day in and day out!

SVYM-AIISH set up Outreach Service and Newborn Screening Centre at Saragur

Deepashree; Director of AIISH Dr. Asha Yathiraj; Consultant Paediatrician of VMH Dr. G.S. Kumar; Dr. (Flt. Lt.) M. A. Balasubramanya, Secretary & CEO, SVYM, Consultant Anaesthesiologist, VMH; Network Administrator of SVYM B. G. Vivek Athreya and President of Merchants' Association, Saragur, Suresh Jain, in front of the newly-inaugurated outreach service centre.

Mysuru, Oct. 13- For the first time, Mysuru-based premier institute All India Institute of Speech and Hearing (AIISH) in collaboration with Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement (SVYM), set up an outreach service and newborn screening centre at Vivekananda Memorial Hospital (VMH) in Saragur, H. D. Kote taluk, recently.

With this SVYM becomes a taluk nodal centre for Audiometry and Speech Therapy which will benefit the communities of H. D. Kote at large.

Members of the community in Saragur and H. D. Kote taluk can avail services related to diagnosis, rehabilitation and provision of hearing aids for free at the centre.

Moreover, unlike the other outreach centres of AIISH, here community members can avail services of both the outreach service and newborn screening at the same place, thus saving them the trouble to travel to Mysuru city for diagnosis and treatment.

Speaking after inaugurating the outreach service centre, Director of AIISH Dr. Asha Yatiraj said, "If the newborn is screened at birth for a hearing problem, followed by right diagnosis and rehabilitation within six months, the child can grow up to be almost normal."

Speaking on the occasion, Dr. (Flt. Lt.) M. A. Balasubramanya, Secretary & CEO, SVYM, said, "With the outreach service and newborn screening centre in Saragur, H. D. Kote will no longer have to bear the tag of being one of the backward taluks in Mysuru district. The services of this centre is available for the entire taluk and children born in both government and private hospitals can access this free of cost.

Now, rain batters Paduvarahalli

Rain water enters a house in Paduvarahalli. Picture right shows a doctor examining an elderly woman.

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (RKB, SP&NNN)-Signals are clear. The city is going the Bengaluru way. This was in ample evidence as the residents of Paduvarahalli were a harried lot last night, as rainwater gushed into the houses on 8th Cross in Ward No.33.

The situation turned serious as the women and children in the area fell sick. The Health Department officials visited the spot and treated the affected residents. Some of them had suffered fracture, a few had bruises and some had fever.

Additional Deputy Commissioner T. Yogesh and Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu also visited the spot and spoke to the residents and assured them that their grievances will be looked into at the earliest.

Residents panic

It started raining heavily last night and the water from the higher altitude areas like Jayalakshmipuram, near Aishwarya Petrol Bunk, Chandrakala Hospital started flowing down and entered the houses in the low-lying areas of Paduvarahalli.

As the water level rose to about six to seven feet, the residents panicked and started shouting for help. The Abhaya rescue team from MCC came to the spot but left immediately, alleged the residents.

The rising water level forced Kalavathi, wife of Mohan Kumar who was away on night duty to climb up and take shelter on the loft. It was then that a few boys who were staying as paying guests in the neighbourhood came to the rescue of the people. Kishan, Darshan, Suraj and Ravi all students sprung into action. They climbed on the roof of the house, removed the tiles and pulled Kalavathi out to safety.

Similarly, in another house Sakuntala, her 16-year-old daughter Bhumika and five-year-old daughter Ganavi were caught in neck-deep water. The presence of mind of the tiny tot Ganavi saved their lives as she put her tiny feet on the bolt of the door, caught hold of the loft and started shouting for help. Hearing her cries, the boys rushed to the house and rescued them.

"All these years it had not rained heavily. Now the vents in the lakebed, which was earlier connected to Kukkarahalli Lake is blocked. As a result the rainwater overflows flooding the whole area," she said.

MLA Vasu speaking to Star of Mysore said, "I rushed to the spot on hearing about the problems of the residents and I got involved in the rescue operations the whole of last night and this morning."

Mayor M.J. Ravikumar visited the spot this morning along with others and assured the residents of compensation. Ravikuamar told Star of Mysore that the vent leading to Kukkarahalli Lake on Hunsur Road will be immediately repaired.

"We were waiting for Dasara to be over to take up the work on the vent. However, we never expected that it would rain so heavily and cause so much of problems," he said.

He also visited Srirampura and other rain-affected areas in the city this morning.

Dasara Exhibition Stall owners protest

More than 100 stall owners in the Karnataka Exhibition Grounds were an upset lot as the heavy rains last night had flooded their stalls. They came out this morning and staged a protest against the Exhibition authorities for their callous attitude and said that they would not open the stalls till their problems were sorted out.

Vinod Kumar of Fun World who has taken up the contract for the exhibition stalls told Star of Mysore that even two weeks back when it had rained heavily, the stall owners had suffered losses as most of the items were destroyed in the rain. They had to suffer a loss of nearly Rs.75 lakh.

The area near the Amusement Park was worst affected as the water entered the shops here when it started raining around 7.30 pm last night. The juice and cloth and textile shops were the worst hit.

The exhibition will be open till December end. But, if the condition of the grounds continue to be pathetic, then it will be very difficult for them to survive as the number of footfalls will decrease, said the anxious stall owners.

KEA Chairman, CEO react

Meanwhile, the Exhibition Authority Chairman Siddaraju said that the KEA will take immediate measures to prevent water logging in future by expanding the drainage network so that the storm water flows out smoothly whenever it rains.

KEA Chief Executive Officer Shashikumar said that he has talked to the District in-charge Minister on the perennial problem of water logging in Dasara Exhibition Grounds whenever it rained heavily. The Minister has directed the contractor to address the issue at the earliest.

KSOU: SOS to HRD Minister Javadekar

Javadekar, who was at the BJP office at Malleswaram this morning for a party core-committee meeting, was flooded with petitions from students, parents and employees of KSOU, demanding speedy resolution to the stalemate surrounding the State's only Open University.

Over 1,500 students and KSOU employees met the Minister who told them that his Ministry has called for a meeting in New Delhi on Oct. 17 where UGC officials, representatives from the State Government and the Ministry will sit across the table to find an amicable solution.

Over three lakh students from outside Karnataka and 94,000 students from Karnataka had taken admission to various courses at the time of derecognition. Since 2015, no admissions have taken place in KSOU.

Karnataka Minister blamed

Terming the statement of Karnataka Higher Education Minister Basavaraja Rayareddy that the KSOU will be closed as "untenable" and "confusing," Javadekar said that the University will not be closed and all efforts will be made to save the future of lakhs of students. He allayed fears and assured parents and students that he will leave no stone unturned to keep the University up and running.

Dropping a bombshell, the Union Minister said that there has been misappropriation to the tune of Rs. 560 crore at KSOU by people at the helm and the UGC was probing the case. Without taking any names, the Minister said that the UGC was probing the irregularities under four heads including infrastructure, out-station centres and two others.

Explaining the reasons behind derecognition, the Minister said that the UGC had found that territorial jurisdiction has been violated where the KSOU opened study centres outside the State and signed MoUs with private institutions for conducting programmes and technical courses. "We will look into the violations and workable solutions at the Oct. 17 meeting. But the State government must stop giving confusing and conflicting statements," he said.

The student delegation was led by former Minister S.A. Ramdas. State BJP leaders including Party President and former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa, Jagadish Shettar, D.V. Sadananda Gowda, Prahlad Joshi, State BJP in-charge Muralidhar Rao, R. Ashoka, Aravinda Limbavali and Union Minister H.N. Ananthkumar also met the students and assured them all possible help.

Why closure? Is it ego?

If sources at KSOU are to be believed, it is a matter of ego rather than anything else that made Basavaraja Rayareddy to announce that the KSOU might be closed. Sources told Star of Mysore that Rayareddy was miffed as his recommendations were not considered while making some appointments.

Sources said that Rayareddy wanted his candidates to occupy the posts of Registrar and Registrar (Evaluation) at KSOU. However, the names were rejected. Likewise, he had recommended five names to the KSOU Board of Management and that too was not accepted.

Upset by this, Rayareddy went on to constitute a committee to study and find alternatives to keep alive the KSOU or recommend its closure.

Meeting of former Vice-Chancellors

Even as the aggrieved students met Union HRD Minster in Bengaluru, MLA Vasu hurriedly called a meeting of former Vice-Chancellors of University of Mysore and KSOU at a private hotel in Mysuru this noon. The meeting was attended by Prof. S.N. Hegde, Prof. J. Shashidhara Prasad, Prof. N.S. Ramegowda, Prof. M.G. Krishnan, Prof. Madaiah, Prof. Indumathi and others. The meeting discussed the possibilities of exerting political pressure on the UGC to relax norms in the interests of lakhs of students and conduct a proficiency test for those who have passed out of KSOU and have not been able to gain employment.

M.G. Road opens after 4 months

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (SP&VNS)- After being closed for about four months, the busy M.G. Road was finally open for traffic this morning, bringing relief to vendors at the integrated market and also commuters travelling towards Chamundi Hill and Lalitha Mahal.

The M.G. Road, leading towards Mysore Race Club from Agrahara was closed for renovation of the overbridge on Nanjangud Road as the PWD is taking up the expansion of the highway from Gun House Circle to Madhuvana.

The works, taken up at a cost of Rs. 17 crore, are expected to completed soon.

The opening of the M.G. Road has surely brought smiles on the faces of vendors as they suffered huge losses over the past four months with customers unable to reach the market owing to closure of the road.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Raghavendra, one of the vendors, said that he was happy that the road has opened to traffic and added that many vegetable vendors suffered losses as the business had come down as the road was closed.

For commuters travelling from Agrahara, they had to take a detour to reach the market. Now that the road is open for traffic, even they have heaved a sigh of relief.

GTD, AHV visit Prasad's residence

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (MTY&DM)- With Chief Minister Siddharamaiah announcing that he will contest from Chamundeshwari Constituency in the 2018 Assembly Polls, senior JD(S) leaders G.T Devegowda (GTD) and A.H. Vishwanath (AHV) visited the house of former Minister and State BJP Vice-President V. Sreenivasa Prasad at Jayalakshmipuram here this morning. The two leaders held a closed door meeting with Prasad for nearly an hour and are said to have discussed chalking out an effective strategy to defeat the Chief Minister. GTD and Vishwanath are also said to have held formal discussions on bringing all anti-Congress forces together to defeat Siddharamaiah.

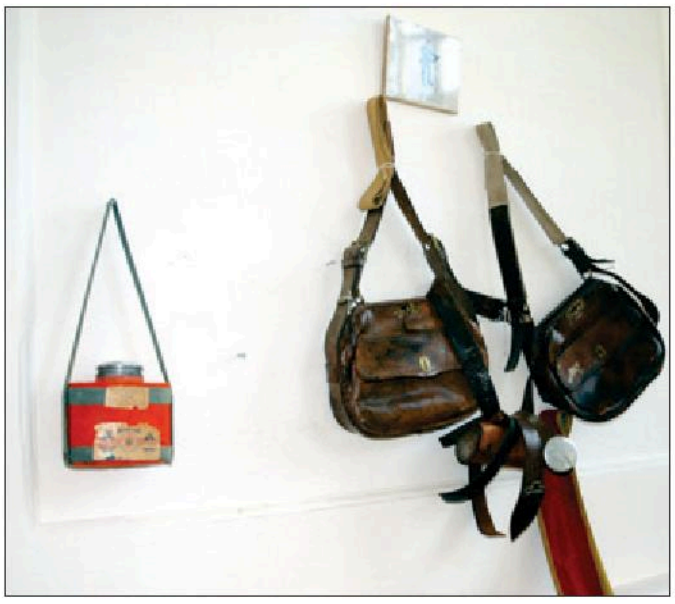
Postal Week celebration at Postal Museum to conclude tomorrow



Mysuru, Oct. 13 (SP&NNN)- The history of Posts is a very fascinating study, as the Department of Posts, widely referred to in India as the "Post Office," is the most widely distributed postal system in the world. With the advent of internet and the dramatic increase in the use of mobile phones, which has every conceivable feature in the tiny handset including sending messages akin to writing letters in the past, the Postal Department had virtually come to a stage of being closed down. However, the Department is making all efforts to stay with the times.

The Postal Training Centre in Mysuru, to keep the memory alive, is observing the National Postal Week from Oct. 9 to Oct. 14 by displaying various items that the Postal Department is known for including the attires of the Postman, the stamps and other paraphernalia.

It is a sheer delight to visit the Postal Museum at the Postal Training Centre in Nazarbad as one can just go down the memory lane. The red letter boxes, the 1854 mail carrier sack and lantern, which the postmen of those days lugged on their back running from one place to another through the night by carrying a spear which had bells to escape from the attack of animals, can all be seen in this exhibition.

The other interesting items include the famous leather bag with sling carried by the Postman, badges made out of brass, bronze and copper, which has been phased out and replaced by plastics can all be learnt here. The seal pads and stamp pads that have the names of place, date and time are also there.

The weighing scales used to weigh the posts takes an old timer back in time and the present generation wonder at the primitive instruments.

There is also lesson on Post Offices in the schools and the facilities it offers like distribution of posts, Postal Life Insurance, Postal Savings etc.

For the philatelists, it is a treasure trove as the stamps brought out on great personalities including leaders, film stars and politicians are all on show at the Museum.

Postal Department Supervisor Vishwananth Shastry, speaking about the exhibition, said that every year World Postal Day is celebrated on Oct. 9 and the Postal Training Centre is observing the National Postal Week from Oct. 9 to 14.

"In this Postal Museum many interesting facts right from the time of the Maharajas till today have been displayed. We have plans of expanding the Museum in the future," he added.

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (NNN) -The online booking for pujas at Chamundeshwari temple atop the Chamundi Hill and for entry to Mysore Palace is evoking very good response by the day, said Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep.

After the District Administration facilitated online booking for various 'sevas' (services) at the Chamundi Hill from Sept. 6, 2017, the response from the public has been very encouraging, he said in a statement.

According to Chief Executive Officer Prasad of Chamundeshwari Temple, it has earned Rs. 5,64,437 through online booking. The online booking through the Chamundi Temple website for the sevas include e-kanike, saree offering, Chandika Homa (group), Chandika Homa (individual).

After this facility was introduced, 381 people have booked online and the temple has earned Rs. 5.64 lakh so far, he said.

The number of tickets booked is 104 and the total earning is Rs. 40,600, while for e-kanike, 77 persons donated Rs. 62,570 in all. For the samanya seve, 160 people had booked and the total earning was Rs. 50,917 and for saree draping 27 people had opted and the earning was Rs. 1,370.

In all, 11 groups had booked online for Chandika Homa and a handsome Rs. 3,85,000 was collected, while Rs. 24,000 was collected when only two persons booked online for Chandika Homa (individual).

The demand for various sevas has increased as the number of devotees to the temple has gone up. Hence, if more and more people utilise the online option, then the entry to the temple will become easy, said Prasad and added that people can visit the website: http://chamundeshwaritemple.in and log into for booking.

Mysore Palace

The District Administration has provided online booking facility for entry to the Mysore Palace too and within a short period, 731 tickets have been sold earning Rs. 33,000. With this facility, tourists can book entry tickets sitting at home and gain easy entry into the Palace. The cost of purchasing the tickets will also remain the same.

If the visitors take a printout of online booking or show the mobile phone display as proof of booking the ticket at the designated counter, will be scanned and the visitors allowed entry. This is the easiest way to enter the crowded Palace, said Mysore Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya. The tickets for adults is Rs.50 and for children it is Rs. 30. For the school children the ticket is priced at Rs.10 and even the schools can purchase tickets online, he added.

The website www.mysorepalace.gov.in is very user-friendly and it will open on all gadgets including desktop, laptop and mobile phones. Importance has been given to security for those booking online. The website has been developed along the lines of e-commerce portals, said Future Design Technology Chief Naveen Kaviratna who has developed the website.

BATTLE FOR VARUNA

Will it be between Bidari and Yathindra?

Shankar Bidari

Yathindra

Mysuru, Oct. 13 - The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) is reportedly considering fielding former Director General and Inspector General of Police, Shankar Bidari from Varuna Assembly constituency in Mysuru district to take on Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's son, Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah, a political novice who is set to make his political debut from the constituency in the 2018 Assembly elections.

Party sources said that the BJP has zeroed in on Bidari, a prominent Lingayat face since a majority of voters in the constituency are Lingayats. Former Minister V. Sreenivasa Prasad, who joined the BJP last year, is said to have extended his support to Bidari and party leaders are hopeful that Prasad would help Bidari in securing Dalit votes in the region.

Also, Bidari is famous for taking on forest brigand Veerappan in the 1990s. CM Siddharamaiah has made up his mind to contest the Assembly elections from Chamundeshwari leaving Varuna, which has elected him twice to the Assembly, to his son.

Varuna, which shares a border with Nanjangud constituency, has a big chunk of Lingayat voters, besides Dalits, Kuruba and other backward classes.

The BJP is banking on Sreenivasa Prasad, a bitter critic of Siddharamaiah for dropping him from the Cabinet and who has vowed to transfer his support in the community to him.

A strong Dalit leader from the Mysuru region, Prasad also nurses a grouse against the CM and Public Works Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa for his defeat in the Nanjangud by-election that he contested after quitting the Congress.

Reacting to reports, Bidari said that he was in the BJP since three years and he has not asked the party for any favours.

"These are just speculations as of now and if the party instructs me to stand from Varuna constituency, I am ready to do that," he said.

Rains bring down elderly lady's house at Gandhinagar in city

Mysuru, Oct. 13 (BCT)- An elderly lady, who was living with her mentally-challenged son lost her house due to heavy rains that lashed the city yesterday. The woman and son are homeless now and local residents have appealed the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) officials to provide her relief as they have nowhere to go.

Local residents who telephoned Star of Mysore this morning said that heavy rains lashed Gandhinagar yesterday and most of the roads and drains were clogged. At Ward 41 near the Annamma Temple Second Cross, the rains brought down the house of Alphonse Mary, an elderly lady living with her 30-year-old mentally-challenged son.

Alphonse Mary said that she had been to the church yesterday and the house had collapsed at 8 pm by the time she returned. Fortunately, neighbours who saw the shaky structure rescued her son and accommodated him in their house. "We have no relatives in Mysuru and this is our only property. The house was dilapidated since years and I cannot repair it as I don't have money. With much difficulty we manage to eat two-square meals a day," she said.

A team of residents led by Syed Jameer helped the lady and her son collect their clothes. They have appealed the MCC officials to intervene and provide shelter to the mother-son duo at the earliest.

India, Australia lock horns for tournament decider

Hyderabad, Oct. 13- For the first time in this limited-overs tour, Australia are on an even footing with India, having bounced back to level the three-match T20I series at 1-1 after losing the ODI series 1-4.

Thus, the visitors would be looking to end their Tour on a high when the two sides meet in the third and final T20I match at the Rajiv Gandhi Stadium to be played later in the day.

However, rain might play spoilsport as the forecast is not promising with the met department predicting thundershowers during the match hours.

On what has been a morale-breaking tour for Australia, the team failed to consolidate after being in strong positions in many of the exchanges in the ODIs. But Tuesday's turnaround in Guwahati where they registered an eight-wicket win came as a silver lining.

Left-arm paceman Jason Behrendorff, rattled the Indian top order with quality swing and seam bowling and Adam Zampa's wrist spin looked at par with that of his Indian counterparts.

Apart from him, Moises Henriques and Travis Head also stepped up and finished India's resistance while chasing 119 in Guwahati. In the lead up to the decider, a couple of off-field developments - a rock tossed at the Australian team bus in Guwahati and Ashish Nehra's impending retirement announcement - have been major talking points.

Thus, a cracker of a match could be expected between the two teams, provided the rain gods stay away from Hyderabad.
